Legrand has a unique "eye" and an aesthetic which is very much her own. She focuses on mid-century modern pieces and has an extensive network of suppliers worldwide. She strives to fully understand her clients personalities and lifestyles thus creating an environment and energy that matches their expectations. Her aim is to propose highly distinctive, timeless interiors for her clients which are best described as "eclectic chic" simultaneously embodying sophistication, glamour and an element of whimsy. Her clients love her style and the warm yet sophisticated and highly individual environment she creates for them. "When it comes to interior design, I don't have rules, I don't have a formula. To me that is limiting, and I never limit myself or my clients." Legrand has lived in the U.S., The Netherlands and the UK. She speaks six languages fluently and has two teenage sons. Her extensive travels have mapped her inner landscape, giving her an appreciation of architecture and art from an international perspective.

"Caroline has exquisite taste and has a unique eye for detail she can turn a blank canvas into a incredible living space." -Melissa Odabash, swimwear designer
